

I am attaching a few photos with details.
Hope this helps.
Let me know if you have any questions always available to help.
Saluti

The end of the hand throttle goes where the arrow is pointing you need a fat washer with a little pin to hold it in place. The cable when you pull it goes in & out accelerate or decelerate it works like a cruise control.

The little bracket attached to the cable needs to be bolted in the body somewhere along where the red arrow is pointing. You will see a little bolt there when you remove the old cable.

